

Abstract Art Workshops with Tony Davie

If you are looking for something different and inspirational to fit into your meeting, workshop or training session then an Abstract Art session with Cheltenham based artist Tony Davie could be the answer!

Abstract Art sessions typically last for a couple of hours and are designed as a breakout session for delegates attending a meeting or Away Day. The aim of the workshop is to give delegates an insight into Abstract Art and for them to produce their own individual piece of Art to take away.

These workshops are fun, interactive and start with a short presentation on techniques and some general pointers to get everybody off to a great start. Not only is art very interactive, interesting and creative but because of its' uniqueness it can easily dovetail into your meeting theme.

The sessions last from a couple of hours to a morning or afternoon or make a great evening activity. Canvases and all materials will be supplied, although it might be wise to bring protective clothing!

With the experience of working in the corporate world for Sainsbury's, Homebase and across the Home Retail Group Tony can really understand what is needed and help to facilitate a great meeting.
